

Supported by

Award in Community Development

Are you involved in volunteer or paid community development work? This is a chance to gain skills share ideas and experiences with other people and receive a certificate.

The course is suitable both for people who are volunteers or who are just starting out in a community development role, leading to a CPD certificate at Level 2 or even Level 3. The Level 3 is suitable to people with existing experience as a community development worker.

The course will cover: what Community Development is, what its values are, and how to approach working as community development worker/volunteer. Also covered are why people get involved in their community, how to encourage them, and how community groups work. It will also explore social inequality and diversity in communities.

Six Friday sessions on: 12th, 19th January, 2nd, 9th and 23rd February and 2nd March 2018 Session times: 9.45am – 2.45pm.

at: Swaythling Neighbourhood Centre, Hampton Park Way off Broadlands Road, Southampton, SO17 3AT.

(Served by all University buses, very close to U1A and U1C routes)

Cost:-

Unemployed and in receipt of benefits	Free
Volunteers with income less than £12,000	£62
Volunteers with income £12,000 to £18,000	£125
Full fee (paid workers or those with income over £18,000)	£250

To book a place on the above course, please fill in the booking form (see next page) and return by post, email or fax to:

TWICS, Swaythling Neighbourhood Centre, Hampton Park Way, Southampton SO17 3AT

E-mail: ichambers@twics.org.uk

Tele: 023 8067 1111